But this remains to be seen, and for the present the single greatest challenge to neuroscience is to elucidate how the brain works. And so this city of monuments has just created another one, if at a cost: Tossing a key off Ponte Milvio, some Italians complain, may soon be as touristy and routine as flipping a coin into the Trevi Fountain. One great and easy way is to forward them this publication. Posted on July 6, by of the reasons Smith knows so much about whitetail deer and black bear is he has fostered the trust of a number of the animals to the point he is able to walk with them as they go about their daily routines, so he can capture unique photos and video of their behavior while he learns as much as he can about the animals directly from .
